“ I think the thing that separates Shoosmiths from other firms, is that it’s very quirky. I think there are lots of creative individuals that work at Shoosmiths and they bring a different perspective to common problems and I think that clients like the fact that we approach things in a different way.

The thing that attracted me to Shoosmiths is the culture. It has a fantastic ethos, everyone pulls together and it’s a really genuine team environment. I think that clients see that ethos and that’s why, in recent years, we’ve been increasingly successful, particularly in the commercial disciplines as clients want to be a part of that.

I think one of the things that surprised me when I joined Shoosmiths was the fantastic client base and quality of work that the firm does. I think we are very modest as a practice and we don’t shout from the rooftops enough about the brilliant clients we work with and the fantastic deals that we are working on.

One of the really nice things about Shoosmiths is that it is an all inclusive environment. Our junior lawyers get the opportunity to work on pitches and present to clients with us. The feedback we get from those clients is fantastic. I know of a number of occasions where we’ve won pitches because we’ve taken our junior lawyers along and clients have been able to see the quality of people we’ve got working with us. ”
